ENJOYABLE CHILDRENS' PARTY

Young Folks Spent a Most Enjoyable Evening at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. France

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. France entertained about seventeen or eighteen little guests last Saturday evening in honor of Miss Barbara and Master Jack Twigg, of Victoria.

Mr. France delighted the young people with sleight-of-hand tricks and moving pictures. The way he got an egg out of a perfectly good orange, and how he got ink out of the perfectly good egg remains a deep and fascinating mystery to all the little ones. Then he had "Jerry" do some stunts which completely puzzled and delighted the children. The card tricks—well, all the little folks are very busy practicing them. But the orange, egg and ink combination has made him a magician of the highest class with the children.

To add to the enjoyment of the little folks delicious refreshments were served during the evening by Mrs. France.

Those present were Master Jack and Miss Barbara Twigg, Winnifred and Kathleen Taylor, Barbara and Phyllis Parkes, Phyllis and Dennis Johnston, Jack, Hector and Raymond Conway, Bertie Ward, Leslie Willoughby, Amy Forneri, Florence and Gordon Hambley and Gordon France.

SOME PEACHES.

The Review staff acknowledges with thanks some fine specimens of fruit grown by Mr. R. Embleton on the property owned by Mrs. Malr, Hill Island. Peaches of the most delicious flavor (freestone) measuring 10½x8 inches, perfect in form and coloring, to say nothing of the delicious flavor. Also prunes and red plum and splendid sample of apple, show just what the soil and climate on Hill Island can produce.

HOPE VS. EVIDENCE.

At the grave of the departed the old darky pastor stood, hat in hand. Looking into the abyss he delivered himself of the funeral oration: "Samuel Johnson," he said sorrowfully, "you are gone. An' we hopes you is gone where we specks you ain't."

MR. J. H. HALL LEAVING ISLAND

Will Be Succeeded at James Island by Mr. Lyons, of Nobel Factory, Parry Sound

(Review Correspondent)
JAMES ISLAND, Aug. 23.—Our readers will learn with regret that Mr. J. H. Hall, the works manager, is leaving shortly to take charge of the Nobel factory at Parry Sound. Mr. Hall has been with the company for a considerable time, and came to the island in April, 1919, when the Northfield factory was closed down. He succeeded Mr. Yansey as superintendent at Northfield in the early days of the war, having been assistant superintendent at the same factory for a number of years. He will be succeeded by Mr. Lyons from the Nobel factory.

Mr. Rowbotham, Mr. Eyres and Mr. Gould returned on Sunday from a very enjoyable cruise on the "Alcar."

Mr. Rowbotham is away for a holiday.

The tennis tournament last Saturday was postponed on account of the rain.

Mr. Herbert Rowbottom is spending a vacation visiting the principal cities of the North Pacific Coast.

Mr. D. Shearer paid a business trip to town on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons left the island on Sunday for Leeds, Eng.

Mrs. E. Roa is spending a week visiting friends in Victoria.

Mrs. Rivers and Raymond have returned to the island for the rest of the holidays.

Jill Biller celebrated her sixth birthday on Tuesday.

Mr. Deakin has returned to the island for a day or two.

A large number of sheep belonging to Mr. Turner, of Sidney Island, have been placed in the dynamite area to keep down the grass.

Be Sure to Get Next Week's Issue

In our next issue we will publish a poem by the well-known author, Mr. "Bob" Sloan. This will be something which will interest our readers. Look for it in our next issue.

Will Be High School Class Here This Year

It appears that the impression among the parents in this district is that there will be no High School class here this year.

This is an error. The School Trustees are making arrangements for the High School class this year, and they wish the parents of scholars eligible for High School to communicate with them, in order that they may know just how many scholars there are in the district who will attend school in Sidney.

The Department of Education has informed the School Trustees that they would be justified in making arrangements for a High School class, even if there are not the required number of pupils. The School Trustees, however, feel confident that there is the required number in the district, and as stated above, are making arrangements for the High School class this year.

School will open this year on Tuesday, September 6.

MANY FISHERMEN ARE OUT HAD A GOOD PICNIC ANYWAY

Good Catches This Season Around Saturna Island; Other News of the Island

(Review Correspondent)

SATURNA ISLAND, Aug. 22.—A very good catch of fish was made last week at East Point. The catch numbered thirty-three fish, fifteen salmon, spring and coho, fourteen grilse and four cod. The fishermen were very pleased with their one day's work, only four lines having been used.

The waters among the Gulf Islands are dotted with numerous boats of various descriptions, parties cruising around enjoying the beauties of the islands.

Major and Mrs. W. Langley and family, of Victoria, on their sailing boat the "Dorothy," are spending their holidays camping at Bedwell Harbor, South Pender.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and party, from Victoria, spent the week-end with them on their boat, the "Yodah."

The "Gazeeka" of Seattle, with a party spent a short time in Boot Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Payne and Miss Dorothy Payne, spent two or three days at Whidby Island, U.S.A., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Pratt. Mr. Pratt brought them back on his yacht, "Saturna."

Major Hart and Miss Marjorie Leeming, both of Victoria, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Payne. Miss Evelyn Guy, of Victoria, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Payne.

The Rev. H. Payne is visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradley Dyne at Duncan, B. C.

The fishing boats at South Pender are having very poor luck salmon fishing, having very small hauls.

The "Nora," of the Saturna Mills, is on a towing job to Ladner, B. C. The men from the mill have all returned and expect to start work on Monday.

Two carpenters have been left to complete the building of Mr. Crane's house, South Pender.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Walker have gone for a cruise, taking in Crofton on their way.

FINED IN POLICE COURT.

In the local police court, before Mr. J. Critchley, J. P., last Friday, Sing Lee pleaded guilty to the charge of smoking opium, and was assessed the sum of $25. Provincial Constable Agassiz made the arrest on Friday and the man was tried the same day.

New Industry to Start in Sidney

Sidney is to have a motor service station. This will be welcome news to many of the motorists in this district. Messrs. F. Hobson and E. Goddard are at the head of the new industry, and are busy engaged at the present time in making numerous alterations to the building which they have selected for the purpose, being opposite the post office on Beacon avenue.

A gas pump and air pump will be installed at once, and it is the intention of the proprietors to give stage, and consequently is very well known throughout the entire district. The new firm will have a seven passenger Hudson for hire at reasonable rate.

A telephone will be installed as soon as possible. Mr. Hobson was one of the original owners of the Flying Line, motor stage, and consequently is very well known throughout the entire district. The new firm will have the best service of all kinds, will be made in every respect.

Wet Weather Did Not Dampen the Spirits of This Merry Crowd of Optimists

(Review Correspondent)

CALIANO ISLAND, Aug. 23.—The change in the weather, commencing with a series of sharp thunder showers, has not improved the bay or tomato crops. On Tuesday in last week the picnic opposite Lion Island might have been aptly termed "a wash out," had it not been for the untiring optimism of the entire crew. When the heaviest downpour drove many of the party to take refuge within the hospitable tent of Mr. and Mrs. Leones' encampment the others, clad in bathing suits, soaked and steamed around the big fire they had made on the beach. A second picnic was enjoyed by Mayne Islanders the following day at the same favored spot.

A teacher has already been appointed for the school at Retreat Cove, but no appointment has been made at the south end up to the present. The south end schoolhouse has been improved by the addition of another large window on the east side, and a second will be put in shortly.

Rev. and Mrs. Porter, of West home, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Victor Zala in the Valley.

Miss Constance McMullen, of Prince Rupert, who is staying on Mayne Island with her aunt, Mrs. Padden, paid a short visit to the Valley at the beginning of the week.

Miss Burden left the island on Saturday, having been the guest of Mrs. R. Gardner.

Miss Poppy Shepherd has returned to Victoria after spending part of her holidays with Miss W. Y. Hicks.

Mr. F. W. Hicks, who resigned his position as teacher of South Galiano school, has accepted a post at Mr. C. W. Lonsdale's well-known school at Shawinigan Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Harford are congratulated on the arrival of a baby daughter, who was born at Ganges on Thursday, Aug. 11.

Miss Dora Payne returns to her home on Saturna Island this week. The service on Sunday was attended by a party from Mayne Island, including Mrs. Padden, Mrs. Maude, Miss McMullen, Mr. Richard Hall and Mr. George Maude.

IMPORTANT MEETING.

An important meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade will be held tomorrow evening in the Sidney Mills office at 5 o'clock.

BABY SHOWER LAST FRIDAY

Little Daughter of Rev. and Mrs. T. Griffiths the Recipient of Many Handsome Articles

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Taylor, Fifth street, when the members of the Ladies' Aid of the Union Church gave a baby shower for Olwen Hunt, the youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. T. Griffiths.

At the close of the afternoon tea, which was served in the garden, a trumpet call drew the attention of all present to a large stork approaching across the lawn laden down with gifts. Little Winnifred Taylor, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Taylor, directed the stork to Mrs. Taylor, Sr., president of the Ladies' Aid, at the same time handing her a parchment roll which Mrs. Taylor read, announcing the best wishes of the Aid members for the future welfare of the little daughter, to which Mrs. Griffiths graciously replied, thanking all the ladies for their thoughtfulness.

The parcels were then opened and admired, all being very useful and pretty. Each member of the Ladies' Aid then wrote out a hint "How to Bring Up a Baby," which, on being read to the guests, caused a great deal of merriment. The taking of a few photographs brought a very jolly afternoon to a close.

Those present were: Mrs. W. Armstrong, Mrs. Ingamells, Mrs. C. Wemyss, Mrs. Wemyss, Sr., Mrs. J. S. Taylor, Mrs. Griffiths, Mrs. Brewster, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Ormrod, Mrs. G. Douglas, Mrs. Munro, Mrs. D. Harvey, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Voss, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Simister, Mrs. Lee (Duncan), Mrs. Carothers (Edmonton), Mrs. Beck (Manchester, Eng.) and Mrs. J. T. Taylor.

UNIVERSITY OF B. C.

Owing to lack of accommodation it may be found necessary to limit the attendance of First Year Students to those with full matriculation standing.

First year students with defective standing (supplementals) may, however, submit their applications for admission, and these applications will be dealt with later.

TRANSPORTATION TO FALL FAIR

Arrangements Made for Visitors to the Annual Exhibition at Ganges

Mr. E. H. Streeten, secretary of the Islands Agricultural and Fruit Growers' Association, was in Sidney this week, and reports that the outlook for the twenty-fifth annual exhibition at Ganges on Sept. 14, is very bright, and the chances are that a record number of entries will be made this year.

In regard to the transportation of visitors to the fair, Mr. Streeten said that arrangements had been completed with the C. P. R. whereby the steamer Island Princess will make Ganges her first and last port of call on that day, so that the visitors from various parts of the district and Victoria would be able to spend almost the entire day on the grounds. The steamer will call at Ganges on the return trip at 5 p.m.

Mr. Streeten will be pleased to give any information to anyone interested in the exhibition. A post card or letter addressed to Mr. Streeten at Ganges will bring full information.

FLOWER SHOW ON SEPT. 2.

The prize lists for the flower show to be held under the auspices of the South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute on Sept. 2 have been printed, and a copy will be sent to anyone interested in the show by addressing communication to Mrs. Reid, secretary of the Institute, Fulford Harbor.

It has been arranged to hold a dance after the show, and splendid music has been engaged for the occasion.

CONDEMNED AS DWELLING.

It is reported that the premises owned by Mr. E. G. Beaumont, of Discovery Island, opposite the post office, have been condemned as dwelling rooms, and the occupants living there will have to seek other quarters.

On the advice of Dr. Beale, Health Officer, and Provincial Constable, P. C. Agassiz, the Department of Health has given orders to the agent, Mr. S. Roberts, that the premises be vacated immediately.

Most Delightful Concert Given

Large Audience Entertained by Sidney and Victoria Artistes at St. Paul's Church; Concert Was Under Auspices of Ladies Aid

The all fresco musical evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Union Church, which was to have taken place on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Taylor, Fifth street, had to be given in the Union Church, Queen's avenue, last Tuesday evening, owing to the inclemency of the weather. The church was very handsomely decorated for the occasion by the members of the Ladies' Aid.

The members of the Ladies' Aid certainly are to be congratulated upon the excellent entertainment given, and many of the citizens will look forward with pleasure to a similar function in the future. Those who contributed to the programme, both Victoria and Sidney artistes, were roundly applauded, thus demonstrating in a practical manner that they gave a great deal of pleasure to those in the audience.

Rev. Mr. Griffiths, chairman of the evening, opened the proceedings by calling upon Mr. Hunt, Mrs. Thornborough and Mr. Findler to give the first number on the programme, which was a violin selection with piano accompaniment. This number received hearty applause and prepared the audience for the many excellent numbers to follow.

Mr. Bryant delighted the audience with several selections, including "Nevada," and "For You Alone," the latter being very well sung. Only a Year Ago, and I Love You.

Mr. E. Cartwright, who is well understood that the Ladies' Aid have a substantial sum to add to their fund, to carry on work which they have in hand.

Will Hold Regatta on September 5

Ganges Residents Preparing Splendid Programme of Sports For This Event; Death of Mr. Ernest H. Stanford

(Review Correspondent)

GANGES, Aug. 23.—The date of the regatta at Ganges has been changed to Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 5. A splendid programme has been arranged for the day and a lot of visitors are expected.

C. L. Cropper has just purchased "Sunnyside" from Mr. Hugh Greene.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Elliott and son are having a week's cruise in their launch "Perhaps."

Miss Choquette, of Mallardville, B. C., spending a week or so at Ganges.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Clark and little daughter, who have been spending a couple of months with Mr. and Mrs. A. Clarke, of "The Croft," left on Monday for Seattle.

Mr. Warmund and Mr. Debrize are visitors at Ganges in the launch "Illine."

The "Clanman," with a large cargo of feed for Mount Bros., called at Ganges on Friday morning, and after more than two hours of hard work, cleared for Hope Bay, Pender Island.

On Saturday morning, about 5.45 o'clock, the "Cascade" called and unloaded 300 sacks of rice, meal, etc., for Mount Bros.

The "Orcus" left with a fine load of fat pigs for Victoria on Saturday. Ganges is quiet busy at this season of the year. Apple shipments and that of other fruits will soon be in full swing, and things will be much better when the long promised wharf is built, which, it is expected, will be quite a bit larger than the present old wharf, and will have a frontage of 12½ feet on deep water, and will be 100 feet wide. The widening of the approach and removal of rock has been completed.

Mr. Wm. Mout and party enjoyed a day's fishing in "The Pass" on Friday. They had fairly good luck.

Mr. Burbidge, the Jate Hudson's Bay Commissioner, was a visitor to Ganges one day last week. He was accompanied by Mr. Oldfield, of Oldfield, Kirby and Gardner, of Winnipeg, and expects to return shortly for a somewhat longer period and tour the island.

Mrs. Mout is visiting in Victoria, the guest of Mrs. Rosmer for a few days.

Mrs. McKenzie and daughter, of Victoria, are spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. E. Pearson.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Cousins, of Mayne Island, on the arrival of a little daughter at the Lady Minto hospital, on Saturday, Aug. 20.

Mr. amex Horel is in New Westminster for a few days on business.

D. G. Seymour is a patient at Lady Minto Hospital.

Ernest H. Stanford, aged 36, passed away at the Lady Minto Hospital on Friday morning, Aug. 19.

Mr. Stanford left Ganges and went to Bristol, Eng., his home town, and joined the South Midland Royal Engineer Corps in the 61st Division, in the 478th Field Company. As corporal he served in France, and was wounded in the German advance.

He returned to England in full swing, and things will be much better when the long promised wharf is built, which, it is expected, will be quite a bit larger than the present old wharf, and will have a frontage of 12½ feet on deep water, and will be 100 feet wide. The

He returned to Ganges in August, 1919.

HISTORY OF GALIANO ISLAND
By M. Ida New All Rights Reserved

Collinson Point, Active Pass, was named after Mr. William Tomkins Collinson, of Mayne Island, who arrived on the coast in 1858. It was close to this point that, in May, 1863, three of the Lamalchi Indians were captured, who were concerned in the terrible murder of a settler and his daughter on Saturna Island the previous November.

Burrill Point, Active Pass, was also named by Com. Parry after Mr. Frederick and Mr. Joseph Burrill, who have resided close to this point for many years, and who successfully started and still maintain an excellent general store on the waterfront.

Sturdie Bay was also called after one of the earlier settlers. George, son Bay was named after Mr. Harry Georgeson who built his first log house on its banks in the year 1863. Much of the land at this part of the island, near the southwestern entrance of Active Pass, is still owned by Mr. Georgeson, with the present house which succeeded the original building. Having taken up the post of lighthouse keeper at Point Comfort, Mayne Island, Mr. Georgeson took up his residence at the other end of the Pass. At the time of writing, his long term of service as lighthouse keeper is coming to an end. A new house is being built on the rocks above Georgeson Bay, and the family intends to return to Galiano in the near future. A brother the late Mr. John Georgeson, was another early settler on the island, living up the coast close to Montague Harbor.

The first log cabin to be built and occupied by a white man in the interior of the island was owned by Mr. Harry Clapham, who pre-empted 160 acres of land in the district now locally spoken of as "the Valley." Of this he later sold 100 acres to the New Vancouver—the present Western Fuel Company. Mr. Clapham was an old man-o-war's man who lived alone with his dog "Nellie." Declaring that it was unsafe to live on the waterfront for fear of marauding Indians he struck off into the bush, and made his home a mile or so from the beach. He told many wild tales of his encounters with Indians, and of how he would take his rifle and lie on the bluffs above Montague Harbor to fire at them as they went by in their canoes. But those who remember him at the present day are wont to observe that the old seaman's yarns were usually to be taken with a grain of salt. Some thirty years ago Harry Clapham, formerly of H. M. Navy, died, and was buried in the little plot of land near the shores of Active Pass, which was set apart as a cemetery. The little log cabin in the valley remained, and it was not until the year 1915 that it was accidentally destroyed by fire. A rumor had been spread that several old muskets and a store of coins lay buried under one corner of the building, but nothing was ever found to prove the truth of this report.

Mr. H. Morris was among the early settlers on Galiano, owning 1,400 acres at the south end of the island, where he ran sheep. About 1884 he sold out to Messrs. Shaw & Seabrook, who farmed for a few years and then dissolved partnership. Shaw sold part of the land to Mr. Cain, who built a house on the waterfront facing Gossip Island. During recent years Mr. Cain has resided on Mayne Island, having sold this property, which, however, still retains its name of Cain's Point. Inside the house there are carved decorations, the work of the original owner of the house, Mr. Cain.

Mr. Seabrook farmed for a time in the valley, which, during those years was in process of being cleared. It was not long, however, before he too, left the island and went to the Yukon, having sold his property to Mr. Macklin, who a short time afterwards sold to Mr. Sodsom. Among those who worked hard in the clearing of the valley was Mr. George Munroe. A barn, which was built by him some forty odd years ago may still be seen standing at the south end of the valley. At the present time it was used as a sheep shed, but with recent developments in the district it is probable that it will soon be taken down to make room for a new building. The valley settlement, where the principal block of agricultural land is situated, was the oldest settled part of Galiano where actual farming was carried on.

Harry Clapham to whom reference has already been made, went in for mixed farming. Mr. Craig afterwards bought the Clapham place, and eventually sold out to Mr. Macklin. The part of the island owned by Mr. Victor Zala, is still spoken of as the "Craig place." Bob Wright had a quarter section which he pre-empted, but later he took up salmon fishing in the Fraser with great success. Mr. Sinclair, who was school teacher on the island when Mr. Craig lived in the valley, occupied the house in the northeast corner. This is still known as "Sinclair's," though it also was bought by Mr. Enke some ten years ago. Mr. Arnold Lejeune, who rented the Valley Farm from Mr. Enke for a year at the beginning of the war, lived in this house, but left early in 1916 for the front. It is now the property of Mr. R. Gardner, a soldier settler. A narrow, twisting trail used to lead from "Sinclair's" to the shore, which was used by the owner when he made regular trips to a neighbor's house to fetch his batch of bread. Although this little trail is grown over, and is no longer used, since a direct road was put in last year to open up this end of the valley, newcomers to the island wonder what was the origin of "the Bread Trail," a name which is still used by the old timers.

In 1882 Mr. and Mrs. Findlay Murcheson, with their son, came to settle on Galiano, making their home close beside a little bay on the eastern side of the island. With ceaseless energy Mr. Murcheson set to work to build up a farm, which developed into one of the best and largest ranches on the islands. Mrs. Murcheson was the first white woman to settle on Galiano, and her son was the first white boy. At the present time Mr. Findlay Murcheson, Jr., who inherited the farm on the death of his father, lives on the property with his wife and five children. In 1912 he sold about 400 acres to Mr. W. H. Ellis, of Victoria, whose son lived on the place for a short time, but finally decided to turn his energies in another direction. Mr. Murcheson has developed and improved the home-farm to a great extent, and today a view of the house by the sea, with orchard blossom in spring time, or the lilac in full flower, makes a beautiful picture. The original deer-proof fence, though no longer proof against deer, still stands along the road side of the garden. Next spring Mr. Murcheson, who as school trustee, fire warden and road foreman, has ever been a valued member of the community, will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of his arrival on Galiano.

Some thirty-five years ago Elijah Ganner owned property on the north-eastern side of the island, where he established a farm, afterwards taken over by Mr. McClure. This land is now divided, and occupied by Messrs. Shopland and Burdett, soldier settlers. It was Mr. Ganner who, with two yoke of oxen, carried on logging operations close to Georgeson Bay. (To be continued)

And His Family Medicines

MOST people first knew Dr. Chase through his Receipt Book. Its reliability and usefulness made him friends everywhere.

When he put his Nerve Food, Kidney-Liver Pills and other medicines on the market they received a hearty welcome, and their exceptional merit has kept them high in the public esteem.

Take Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills for example. There is no treatment to be compared to them as a means of regulating the liver, kidneys and bowels and relieving constipation, biliousness, kidney disease and indigestion.

The Imperial Airship Scheme

Mr. Ashbolt is to be congratulated on the interest shown in his scheme for saving the airships to the Empire and making them the nucleus of an Imperial airship service. A committee, representing the British and the Dominion governments, has been appointed to investigate costs and prospects. Mr. Ashbolt and others, in vigorous letters to the London Times, have approached the question from various points of view, and the Imperial government can hardly fail to have been impressed with the arguments advanced. Sir Halford Mackinder, chairman of the Imperial Shipping Committee, and Major H. F. S. Baden-Powell—who urges that first experiments should be made on the Canadian route—both invite the shipping companies to come to the rescue. Sir Halford Mackinder is of opinion that the airship might go far to solve certain Australian shipping problems. There are, he says, not enough first-class passengers to maintain large and swift steamers between Great Britain and Australia and New Zealand. If first-class passengers and mails were carried by airship, steamships for the Australian service need no longer be built "with a view to an unsatisfactory compromise." They could be built economically to carry one class of passenger, with more stowage comfort and with increased cargo space for the return voyage. So good an authority on all aircraft matters as Major W. E. de B. Whitaker is sure that a year's experience would satisfy the most exacting critic, and that within three years the airship service would be working profitably. There are no rebutting arguments, and the occasion seems to afford an opportunity quite unique for meeting the government's views as to economy and promoting Imperial interests in one move. Mr. Ashbolt has no doubt of private financial support if governments at home and overseas will do their share in the experimental stage.—British Empire.

STAGGERING.

Statistics are staggering. For instance, it is estimated that twice the amount of talcum and creams have been used in Winnipeg this summer on account of the added exposed surface.

BOY SCOUTS

AIMS OF SCOUT MOVEMENT.

The aims of the Scout movement are to develop—

1. Character and intelligence.
2. Health and strength.
3. Skill and handicraft.
4. Service for others.
5. A Scout is courteous.
6. A Scout is a friend to animals.
7. A Scout obeys orders of his parents, Patrol leader or Scout Master, without question.
8. A Scout smiles and whistles under all difficulties.
9. A Scout is thrifty.
10. A Scout is clean in thought, word and deed.

The Scout Obligation.

"On my honor, I promise to do my best:
To do my duty to God and the King.
To help other people at all times.
To obey the Scout law.

The Scout Law.

1. A Scout's honor is to be trusted.
2. A Scout is loyal to God and the King, and his officers, to his parents, his country, and his employers or employees.
3. A Scout's duty is to be useful and help others.
4. A Scout is a friend to all, and a brother to every other Scout.

The Troop will meet tonight in full uniform, at 7 o'clock in the hall.

Please bring Troop dues for the month of August.

The boys will take their examination in electricity this afternoon and evening.

Electrician Badge.

1. Make a simple electro magnet, repair blown fuses and broken electrical connections.
  2. Have a knowledge of the methods of rescue and resuscitation of persons suffering from shock.
  3. Have an elementary knowledge of simple battery cells and the work of electric bells and telephones.

Scout Master

HOMELY HINTS.

Always slacken the rollers of the wringer after use.

An apple placed in the cake tin will keep cakes moist and fresh.

White paint can be cleaned very quickly if, instead of soap or any other cleansing agent, a little ammonia is used in the water.

New patent leather shoes should be held to the fire and then rubbed with a little oil. This helps to keep them from cracking.

Rain spots can be removed by steaming the material. This is best done with a hot iron passed over a wet cloth laid on top of the marked parts.

To remove hot water marks from a polished table make a thin paste of salt and salad oil. Lay this on the marks and leave there for about one hour. Then rub well with a dry duster.

When mixing cakes, add boiling water to the eggs instead of milk. Cakes mixed with boiling water turn out nice and light. The eggs must be well beaten before the water is added.

Now that milk is so scarce, soak half a pound of medium oatmeal in a quart of cold water for twelve hours. Strain, and it is ready for use in tea, coffee, and cocoa, giving it a delightful creamy flavor. It is excellent, too, for mixing cakes and puddings.

Black velvet ribbon, or any article made of velvet, can be renovated by holding over a vessel of boiling water, the pile side of the material up- permost. When pressed by passing the wrong side over a fairly hot iron, the ribbon or velvet will look like new.

When a splinter has been driven deep into the hand it can be extracted, without pain, by steam. Nearly fill a wide-mouthed bottle with hot water. Place the injured part of the hand over the mouth of the bottle and press lightly. The suction will draw the flesh down, and in a few minutes the steam will draw out the splinter.

THE QUEEN BANS PLUMAGE.

Orders recently given by Queen Mary to her milliners that no plumage of wild birds should be used for any of her hats, cannot fail to exercise a far reaching influence, says a special dispatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

For the edict means the Queen has joined in the crusade against destruction of the most faithful of the wild feathered tribes, and from henceforth headgear, the plumage of which indicates it has cost the life of one or more wild birds, will be subject to the ban of the Court of St James.

Queen Mary is already assured of the support of her mother-in-law, Queen Alexandra, who is never seen with a feathered toque, and through whose influence during the reign of her husband, Edward VII, the wearing of egrets' feathers, was virtually put out of fashion in Great Britain.

Nowhere will this decree of Queen Mary be received with more sympathy than in India, where the natives have always regarded the use of birds' feathers for adornment as a form of revolting barbarism, and as offensive to all their religious prejudices.

Should Be Paid Wages

By Amy Brandon-Thomas

Although many men make their wives a dress allowance, there are numbers of women who have no allowance of any kind.

Some of them, it is true, have their housekeeping allowance, and consider the surplus their pocket-money, but there are a good many more who never handle money in any form.

"Send the bills into me," say some husbands who consider that the wage-earner should hold the purse-strings. Such a man never seems to understand that a woman may need money in her pocket.

"Mary has only to ask," he will tell you, "and she can have anything in reason." He does not realize that asking may be irksome and humiliating to some women. He cannot enter into the feelings of his penniless wife because he has never been placed in a similar position.

While playing the part of Mary Willmore in "The Purple String," I have been able to voice the feeling of a woman who has no allowance, no housekeeping money, and whose need for a shilling has to be explained before she can get it from her husband, who doles out half-crowns to his wife in a manner which shames her and forces her into positions she should never have to occupy.

Mary was debarred from "bargains"—dear to the heart of every woman—as is every wife who has no money in her pocket. Whether the bargain is a pair of silk stockings, or some fresh vegetables bought at the kitchen door, does not matter. This policy is short-sighted, as not only is the wife debarred from a useful gratification of her bargaining instinct, but the husband is also a loser.

Women can now earn good wages, and have learnt their market values, so one wonders if the future will hold such a thing as a wife without pocket-money.

We cannot imagine, for instance, the girl who has been earning several pounds a week giving up her work to make a home for a man, and being reduced to asking him for a few shillings to get her boots mended. I do not think that modern girls of spirit will allow themselves to become penniless wives. They will demand wages.

Some married women have been receiving wages for years. They haven't called the quarterly cheque by that name, but it has amounted to the same thing. Their husbands have given them a percentage of their incomes. A bigger majority of women have been forced to scrape and scrawl from the housekeeping allowance to find the money for their own needs. They have looked upon those small sums saved as their perquisites, but this must often necessarily lead to the husband being stinted of little luxuries which they would otherwise get, and is not an honest method.

A man should be ashamed of himself if he keeps his wife without a penny of her own in her pocket. A bachelor pays his housekeeper or his landlady for looking after his creature comforts. Why, then, should a wife be expected to do everything for love and her "keep."

There is nothing degrading in receiving money for good work, but there is a lot that is degrading in having to appeal to a man every time a penny is wanted.

FIRST WHITE MARRIAGE IN ARCTIC.

News has been received of the first marriage of white persons ever performed on the Canadian Arctic Circle. The bride, now the wife of the Rev. G. E. Merritt, the Anglican missionary at Coronation Gulf, undertook a journey of 2,500 miles by land and water to that point last spring. She is the first white woman ever seen there. She travelled north as far as Shingle Point at the mouth of the Mackenzie river on the Arctic coast where she was met by Rev. J. Geddes. The two proceeded by steamer to Barnard Harbor, where her marriage to Mr. Merritt took place.

The population around the shores of Coronation Gulf is practically all Eskimos with a few Indians.

TRIED RECIPES

CREAM AND LIMA BEAN SOUP—Place a quart of shelled beans in one quart of boiling water with half a teaspoon of salt, two slices of onion, half a bay leaf and a few sprigs of parsley. Simmer until the beans are very tender and press with the liquor through a puree sieve. Have ready one large cup of highly seasoned cream sauce, add this to the bean puree and mix well. Re-heat, add one small cup of cream, two tablespoons of tomato catsup and a small cup of tiny cooked beans. Serve very hot.

RED BUNNY—Two tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons flour, one-eighth teaspoon soda, two eggs, three-quarters cup milk, one pound cheese cut fine, three-quarters cup tomatoes, stewed and strained; seasonings to taste—pepper, salt, paprika, nutmeg.

Melt butter in saucepan, add the flour and milk. When thoroughly cooked add the cheese, cut in fine pieces; eggs, slightly beaten and seasonings. Let mixture cook until cheese is melted and eggs are cooked. Have ready toasted bread, either plain, graham or steamed brown bread. When ready to serve add soda to hot tomato. Stir into cheese mixture and serve at once.

CORN SHORTCAKE—Make and bake a round baking powder biscuit shortcake, in two layers, rolling each one-fourth inch thick and brushing the bottom layer with melted butter before placing in the oven.

Just before serving remove the top crust, butter the bottom layer liberally and fill with the following combination:

Two cups cooked corn cut from the cob, three-quarters teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon sugar, one cup stewed tomatoes, to which have been added one tablespoon grated onion, one clove, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one tablespoon butter.

With this mixture fill the shortcake, replace the top, brush with melted butter, garnish with parsley, arrange on platter surrounded by pan-boiled meat cakes and serve at once.

SALMON LOAF—One small can of salmon. Remove the bones, pick to pieces with silver fork, add two eggs, one-half cup milk, enough cracker crumbs to form into loaf, put into pan, dot with butter; bake three-quarters of an hour. To serve: Remove loaf to a platter, garnish with parsley and lemon slices. You can thus save fuel during the warm days, also bake potatoes at the same time.

GROTTO DRESSING—One half cup mayonaise, one quarter cup chili sauce, one quarter cup tomato catsup, one-quarter cup onions, two tablespoons green peppers, one quarter cup dill pickle, one quarter cup celery, two tablespoons pimento. Vegetables should be chopped fine before measuring; add all together and chill.

POACHED EGGS—Eggs in this style look very attractive. Place a small piece of butter in each dish of egg poacher, let melt and put in egg until well done, toast bread and butter. Then take doughnut cutter and place in centre of toast, cut hole, in which place egg, round pieces of bread are placed at either side of plate.

POOR MARY

He was a professional confurer. "Now, ladies and gentlemen," he said with a wave of the hand, "this is the magic cabinet. I invite any lady in the audience to enter this cabinet. I will then close the door, and when it shall be opened again the lady will have disappeared, leaving no trace."

There was an impressive silence until a little under-sized man in the second row turned to an enormous woman who sat beside him, and breathed eagerly.

Mary, my dear, won't you oblige the gentleman

Camera Used to Detect Forgeries

Now people are aware that in detecting forgeries the camera plays a highly important part.

The photographic record, duly enlarged, shows the smallest inaccuracies—"jinks" in the middle of letters, inequalities in the strokes, and hundred and one other imperfections of the kind.

The best advice that can be given to those whose signatures are likely to be appended to important documents is that they should adopt a plain, straightforward style.

The down strokes should not be made too thick and the name should always be written in full. "J. Jones" is obviously easier to forge than "John Thomas Jones" or "John Jones."

And in signing a document that is likely to be questioned later on do so if possible when you are feeling "fit." Very few people realize the extent to which health is reflected in handwriting.

In one case two signatures, supposed to be by the same person, were so dissimilar that one was thought to be a clumsy attempt at forgery. Yet, as the expert was able to prove, both were written by the same man, the one when he was in perfect health and the other when he was ill.

The difference in the signatures nearly resulted in his losing property of considerable value.

DECREASES DANGER.

About one hundred thousand head of stock, cattle, horses, and sheep, are grazed on Dominion forest reserves in Western Canada, and the number is steadily increasing. This grazing reduces the danger from grass fires and is of great assistance to the farmers and stockmen in the surrounding districts.

AN OLD LOCOMOTIVE.

The De Witt Clinton, the first locomotive operated in New York state, is resting after celebrating its ninety-ninth birthday by drawing a train of quaint cars of the type in vogue in 1831. The test was given preparatory to a run to New York city.

The engine chortled and puffed under the pressure of 75 pounds of steam as it exceeded the old time speed limit of eight miles an hour. Although it shook and groaned after years of inactivity, officials of the New York Central said it stood the test well. Several short runs were made.

The engine and train have been on exhibition at the Grand Central station in New York for some years.

WISB MEN SAY—

That if we could see ourselves as others see us, we wouldn't believe it.

That small minds look only for small opportunities.

That no wind serves him who has no destined port.

That the happiness of your life depends upon the character of your thoughts.

That all good ends can be worked out by good means. Those that cannot are bad, and may be counted so at once and left alone.

That the constant struggle to measure up to a high ideal is the only force in heaven or on earth that can make a life great.

That patience may be a virtue or a fault. To plod, to drudge, to suffer, without making any effort to better your condition, is not patience; this is lack of courage and of faith.

HARNESSING THE WIND.

Years ago, wind power was commercially popular. It simply had to be, since there were few other sources of power. Today we get most of our power from coal and a great amount from water.

Palestine is not favored with either coal or water power, and Dr. I. M. Mayersohn is now studying the problem of wind power to determine whether or not it will be possible to run the industries of Palestine with wind motors. He has collected interesting data on wind motors in Europe.

Examination of four hundred and seventy seven installations was made. Eighty-seven per cent of these had worked satisfactorily for periods up to eighteen hundred years. Wind power installations are now made in Denmark for the generation of electric power in small communities.

THE FIRST POST CARD.

Post cards were introduced in the first place in Austria in 1869. A year later they were used in England. For half a century the postcard has been a popular in addition and its popularity has consistently increased. In 1872, two years after their introduction into England, no fewer than 76 million post cards passed through the post. Ten years later in 1882 the figure had increased to 135 millions. Almost double that quantity were posted in 1892. By 1902 the figure had reached 419 millions, while in 1906 the 800 million mark was reached. When the letter rate was raised some months ago, the post card scored again, but since the post card rate has been increased there will be little left of that particular economy.

IDLE THOUGHTS

The secret of success is still a secret.

Two's company, three very often a divorce suit.

Usually a sharp tongue cuts a mighty poor figure.

A pessimist is a man who has lost heart and found a liver.

Velocity is what a man get out of the way of a motor car with.

Women are pretty, generally speaking, and of course very often pretty.

A cynic is a man who has eaten a bad dinner or loved the wrong woman.

A good time usually is an expensive article, but so is a good time piece.

It has been said that clothes make the man, but many a man owes much to his tailor.

The King of the Hedjaz has called a Holy War. This is the exact opposite of the last one.

The Spanish cabinet has resigned again. After a time such things get to be a habit.

The bigger some people's heads get the more their poor little brains rattle around in them.

A cat is said to have nine lives, but she really hasn't one to spare when being chased by a big dog.

To play safe, never believe anything a stranger tells you and mighty little that your friends tell you.

The fighting is hardly over about getting wages up when the battle commences about getting them down.

There are three good methods of communicating news and gossip. Telephone, telegraph, and tell a woman.

An Ontario magistrate has decreed that it is not a crime to make cherry wine in Ontario. But perhaps it ought to be.

We hate any kind of a big wind, but there is one thing about the human variety; except for making you weary he does little damage.

It is as difficult to understand some people as it is for a bald-headed man to know where to leave off washing his face and start on his head.

Some people are afraid to be caught telling a lie, but we know others who act as if it would be a disgrace for them to be caught telling the truth.

Japan seems to be of the idea that everything should be discussed at the coming conference except anything about which there might be trouble.

Perhaps the man who has put his hand to his head and appears to be in deep thought, is not thinking a-tall, but is merely pronouncing the abbreviation of "Mount."

It takes all kinds of people to make a world. The Indians of Eastern Canada do not want the franchise. And look at all the noise other people have made to get it.

Ontario, England and Scotland are the birth places of the members of the new cabinet in Alberta. That's the kind of stuff the west is made of, and it's a pretty fair mixture.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

For the ten day period ending with July 31, the earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company amounted to $5,063,000 as compared with $5,600,000 for the corresponding period in 1920, a decrease of $537,000 or 9.5 per cent.

Earnings of the Canadian National for the fourth period of July amounted to $2,593,734, compared with $2,847,220 last year, a decrease of $253,486 or 8.9 per cent.

The Grand Trunk earnings amounted to $3,272,924, a decrease of $564,646 or 14.7 per cent.

GRANDMOTHER SAYS.

Pass a damp, clean mop rapidly over matting; this removes dust and lint.

Put a little vinegar in the rinsing water; it will prevent your hands becoming rough and chapped.

A strip of leather fastened to the wall at intervals with tacks is convenient for holding knives.

Zinc can be cleaned with lemon juice, then wash off with soapy water.

Even the most delicate shades of colored materials will not fade or run if a teaspoonful of Epsom salts is added to each gallon of water when washing or rinsing them.

Put a bag over the head of the food chopper when grinding dry bread crumbs.

If peeling either oranges or tomatoes, scald them a few minutes in hot water and then dash them into cold water to restore their firmness. Skins will come off easily then.

Among the many uses for sour milk is that of silver polish. Put the silverware in the liquid and let it remain for 26 to 30 minutes. Then wash as usual. It will look as if it had been polished.

An orange apple or lemon put in the box with sweet makes give a delicious flavor.

About the Pictures

"ERSTWHILE SUSAN"

Throughout "Erstwhile Susan," the Realar picture starring Constance Binney, which will be shown tomorrow and Saturday evenings at the Auditorium, there are a number of homely, intimate touches which are said to contribute generously to the charm of this production. The locale of "Erstwhile Susan" is the drowsy village of Reinhartz and a neighboring college town, in the heart of the picturesque Pennsylvania-Dutch section.

Reinhartz still lives in the last century, and the manners and speech of its people have been unchanged since its initial settlement two hundred years ago. Accordingly, much of the dialogue in the subtitles of the picture is couched in the quaint dialect and forms of expression used by the people of bygone days. One is "took sorry" when he is ill, "feels fur" something that he wants, calls father "addy" and "brangs" one's self to do something—to enumerate only a few of the colloquialisms.

Then there is an especially interesting and faithful setting: the parlor of the Dreary household. Filled with back-breaking, stiff-jointed furniture, stuffed with horse hair, with "whatnots" scattered about, and with the heavy curtains that are characteristic of "best parlors" in small towns, the Dreary ceremonial room will recall to many theatre patrons the old time formal parlor that is never used except at births, marriages and funerals.

There are also many other intimate glimpses of Reinhartz life permitted through the picture. The butternut, homespun clothes worn by the Dreary men; the "store clothes" of the country school teacher when he comes a-wooing; the fussy frills and furbelows, reminiscent of 1850, worn by Juliet Miller, "erstwhile Susan"; the scenes of Barnabeta pressing the go-to-meeting trousers of her two loutish brothers and waiting on them at the table—these give kaleidoscopic views of the Reinhartz that nearly every man and woman knows.

The picture version of "Erstwhile Susan" was adapted by Kathryn Stuart from the play of the same title which was Mrs. Fluke's starring vehicle about two years ago, and which in turn was based on Helen R. Martin's popular novel, "Barnabeta." The scenarist is said to have collated the most significant and interesting phases and incidents of both play and book so that the picture gives Constance Binney a happy love tale that is a splendid version of the ever beloved Cinderella story.

"DARLING MINE"

How a little Irish immigrant girl broke into the cast of a Broadway musical show and converted some of the meaner souls into real human beings is told in "Darling Mine," the Selznick Picture starring Olive Thomas, which will be shown at the Auditorium next Monday and Tuesday evenings.

As an interpreter of life behind the scenes, Olive Thomas, for all of her five feet, four inches, is head and shoulders above most stars of the silversheet. She has made the make-believe land behind the footlights seem real to thousands who never thought that there were hearts and heartaches, romances and tragedies in stageland.

Her characterizations have been perfectly cut gems. And as Kitty the little wisp of a girl with the sod of Erin still in her shoe laces, she is once more a lovable little elf. She brings a breeze of innocence to a realm of sophistication and—wins a sweetheart.

"Darling Mine" was written by John Lynch and Laurence Trimble and the picture was directed by Mr. Trimble. The supporting cast, with Walter McGrain at its head, is both large and notable.

PICK OUT YOUR OWN TROUBLE

Among the accumulated superstitions about brides and grooms and wedding days, the following are found:

The couple will be separated if by mistake they start from the altar in different directions.

The groom who has something in each pocket of his suit at the altar will never be wealthier than he is at the time of his marriage.

The one who speaks loudest at the altar will die first.

If the best man stumbles on his way to the altar it means bad luck to the groom, and if one of the bridesmaids stumbles it carries evil luck to the bride.

If the bridegroom comes down the aisle before the hymeneal knot is tied misfortunes may be expected.

The fainting of a bride at the altar is the sign of a death in the family.

A baldheaded man at the altar, whether he be minister, groom or bride's father, foretells the advent of marriage squalls.

Whoever rises first from the altar after the ceremony will die first.

If a pair stand so far apart at the altar that you can see between them they will disagree.

If the bride steps on her gown on the way to the altar she will do something that will destroy her happiness in married life.

If the bride turns her head when standing at the altar it is a bad omen, because she is looking for a second husband.

When the bride goes from her seat to the altar the bridesmaids must close up quickly, lest the seat grow cold, which is a sign that the bride and groom's love will quickly grow cold also.

The bride may look for trouble if the groom recognizes any lady on his way to the altar.

It is an ill omen to have at the altar a person of the same given name as either of the principals.

To hear a baby cry at a wedding is an omen that the love of the couple is one-sided.

The groom's love is fickle if he drops anything in the room of the ceremony.

In some churches it is believed that for a bride to carry salt in her pocket during the ceremony ensures good luck.

In some parts of Scotland it is said to be unlucky for the bride's mother to appear at the wedding.

Happiness, in spite of difficulties, is in store for that couple whose relatives refuse to appear at the ceremony after being asked.

Disappointed love is foreshadowed by the fainting of a woman at the ceremony.

If the bride places her foot before that of the groom when being married she will rule the house.

Should Venus happen to be at the height of her splendor when a marriage ceremony is performed, the life of the happy couple will be a continuous scene of happiness and all its paths be strewn with rosebuds of delight.

The bride or groom who looks at anything during the ceremony, thus gives evidence that they will one time try to untie the knot that is being tied.

If a dog barks during the ceremony he tells of an enemy in the room.

If the bride coughs during the marriage ceremony her life will not last long.

Bridegrooms of Elba place one knee on the bride's dress when married to ward off evil spirits.

Never marry in the middle of folding doors or under an archway.

If a bride stands under a floral bell on being married, and the petals of a white rose should fall on her she will be happy and will never know a care.

To stand with the back to a mirror when being married denotes bad luck, people are sure to talk ill about you.

If a minister is marrying a couple and a clock strikes and a bell rings all at the same time, the groom will die before a year.

If, during the marriage ceremony, one of the couple trips secretly up on the foot of the other, it will prevent sickness.

During the wedding whichever has his or her hand about the other's shall be master.

CO-OPERATION IN AGRICULTURE

The Farmer of Today Must Be an Expert Producer and Must Be Himself, or Through an Organization, a Skilled Trades

(By M. B. JACKSON, K.C., M.P.P.)

Again I repeat it is not primarily a combination of capital and there must be a strict avoidance of any straining for dividends on capital advanced. The necessary money contributions are not to be regarded as capital put out for investment, but as necessary expenditure to carry on the organization that will develop the capital, which is the members' land and stock and enterprise. Being essentially a combination of persons, there should be strict insistence on the principle of "one man, one vote" and a membership open to all who come within the class of those having the common interests to be co-operated. There must be the utmost loyalty in mutual dealings. To fall away from this rule of doing business only with and through the organization would bring the whole enterprise to disaster. Faction must be avoided, for faction will kill. Therefore there should be no participation or reliance in party politics.

Elimination of Waste.

The objects in co-operation should be to co-ordinate efforts and resources and opportunity so as to utilize all products and by-products, eliminate waste, form a usable profitable aggregate out of a negligible and unusable or unstable number of otherwise waste factors; to enable energy to be directed into its true and appropriate channels; to organize and discipline individual factors into a co-ordinate and formidable unit mass; to give, in short, the fullest returns for individual effort, and reduce the waste and misdirection of too diffuse and distracted overhead charges and simplify and centralize management organization.

The farmer need only look around his own establishment and into those of his neighbors to see where there is waste and loss, whether it be because, for him as an individual, it would be unprofitable to utilize that patch of ground, or to produce or to establish or care for a bit of orchard, or to keep only a few head of any particular kind of live stock; where the market conditions or costs of production are erratic or too expensive; where to produce a limited quantity of anything of standard marketable quality he must at the same time produce and let go to rot or waste a considerable bulk of unmarketable commodity. He may see himself compelled by the limited size of his holding to force production from some part unsuited to that part because there is no outlet for the small product of what this or that small piece of soil is best adapted for. He sees so many by-products unsaleable he is at the mercy of the middleman. He can not meet the trade demands for standard, for quality, or permanent quantity. He alone is not big enough to control these conditions. The matter of waste alone, if handled on a big enough scale, would pay a great percentage of the cost of production. Take any large industrial concern. The secret and source of their profits is so often found in what to the small institution was offal by-products or waste. It is an old saying, but like all saws has a great truth behind it, that "unity is strength."

The farmer is too often justified in feeling resentful, but if he looks to co-operation for the solution of his difficulties he must not forget that co-operation is defensive and not offensive. His purpose is to organize production. He should think and act wholesaley and not, unless compelled, become himself the middleman or ultimate retailer. In a co-operative organization there is no place for speculation. Speculation and uncertainty are the very opposite of the true principles behind co-operation. There must be no rigging of markets. What we want is to make marketable every item of production—the select or fancy, the standard, the inferior, and the by-products. He wants to secure a steady, permanent, available market and devise a means to supply that market with its demands and handle or preserve his products so as to avoid a glut at one time or a famine at another.

Watch and Know the Markets.

The management should be independent and ability demanded. If necessary the organization should go out side of its membership to secure expert and capable management; it pays to employ approved business capacity. There must be proper audit and simple method of book keeping, so that operation will be easily understood by every member, however unskilled, and the business results clearly shown and always available. Neglect of these matters of management and proper accounting and audit have too often engendered distrust and led to final catastrophe.

The result of co-operation will be to stimulate intellect in the individual, to avoid waste, to utilize all minor opportunities, to detect new openings for enterprise, to control the power of market factors over the individual producer and to develop mutual help and social improvement. It will make the members think and calculate and train themselves for business. It will create the desire for more education, more technical instruction, it will interest him in matters of better seed, better implements, better methods, it will put him to develop new lines of profitable industry.

The Reason We Have the Dollar

By A. B. Barker

Like the pound sterling in Great Britain, the choice of the dollar in Canada and the United States as the unit of value, was more by accident than design. The dollar was originally derived from the Austrian "thaler," a silver coin largely used in the Mediterranean trade, in the 15th and 16th centuries. The early trade with the West Indies was chiefly carried on by Spanish and Italian merchant adventurers and through them the use of these coins became general in that part of the world known as the "Spanish Main." In the favorite literature of our youth, whenever the pirate captain demanded ransom in "pieces of eight," it was the Spanish dollar to which he referred the peso or piece of eight reals. In the latter part of the 18th century the Royal Mint in England was practically closed to the coinage of silver, and in North America there was a shortage of silver coins. There was abundance in the South, where the mints were active and their silver coinage obtained a wide circulation.

In the North American colonies, then under British rule, sterling money, pounds, shillings and pence, was the legal currency, but owing to the shortage of this, the Spanish coinage was welcomed and gradually came to be the prevailing coinage in use. In time custom made the dollar rather than the pound, the unit, and many transactions entered into by both the government and by private parties, were expressed in Spanish silver dollars. In other words, on account of their convenience they became the fashion.

The dollar was divided into so many shillings, and these shillings, though still calculated at 20 to the pound, were based not on the pound sterling, but on the pound currency. Thus the pound in the colonies was reduced to meet the altered circumstances. The number of shillings in the dollar was different in the different colonies. In Massachusetts it was 6; in Pennsylvania, 7½; and in New York, 8; hence the "York shilling" of 12½ cents, a familiar term 50 years ago, and sometimes met with today.

In Nova Scotia when it came under British rule, a different standard was adopted of 5 shillings or 10 sixpences to the dollar. This currency was known as Halifax currency, from the capital of the colony. When this standard was adopted, the dollar was worth 4s 6d sterling, and on this rate was based the old par of exchange £144 9s to the pound sterling.

In 1837 the United States government altered the ratio between silver and gold from 15:1 to 1, to 15.988 to 1. The effect of this undervaluation of silver practically made gold the standard of value, and from this time on we have to deal in exchange transactions with the relative amount of pure gold in the sovereign and dollar respectively. Then, as now, Canada was financially more closely allied to the United States than to Great Britain, and our currency values were adjusted to correspond with those of the United States, i.e. $4.86 2/3 to the pound sterling.

This happened to work out at 9½ per cent premium, and the old par and quotations for sterling exchange were at first made on the basis of a premium per cent in the old par, both in the United States and Canada. In the United States, however, the absurdity of this cumbersome method was soon apparent, and in 1873 the system of quotations was changed very sensibly to that of dollars and cents to the pound, but in Canada, in spite of all efforts to change it, the old system persisted until 1915, when owing to the fall in sterling, making the exchange tables in use obsolete, the common sense method of dollars and cents to the pound was finally adopted—Financial Post.

IRISH NEGOTIATIONS.

Britain's Offer

Ireland to have full rights of a dominion.
Ireland to control its own finances and taxation.
Ireland to have the right to maintain a force of territorial and police.

Ireland to control its industrial affairs, postal and educational systems.

Britain's Demand

British navy must control the surrounding seas.
Britain to control air and communication facilities.
No trade restrictions between the islands.
Ireland must assume a share of the British debt.
Elastic powers and privilege not to be abrogated except by its own consent.

Ireland's Demand

Complete but amicable separation—a political detachment free from entanglements.
Arbitration of share in British debt.

SMALLEST PASSENGER TRAINS.

The tiny Eskdale railroad running between Ravenhall and Bott in England is not a toy railroad though it looks like one. It was originally constructed for military traffic, but is now much used by sightseers in the lake district and from Bott many delightful excursions may be made.

The gauge is only fifteen inches, and the rails designed for heavy traffic weigh forty pounds a yard. The little locomotives are a triumph of engineering skill. The locomotives are built by the works of the Great Northern Railway Co. of London.

There are two types of car. One for summer use and the other for winter use.

What to Do in Case of Drowning Accident

Dr. Fischer, of Vienna, declares such a thing is accomplished with hot water in which the apparently drowned person is immersed for from ten up to six hours, and that twenty to thirty minutes. Following deaths of lives are sacrificed every time immersion in the hot water, year by clinging to the old method, which must be as hot as can be borne.

Doctor Fischer says it is impossible by the hand, the old and ordinary method for a drop of water to enter the methods of resuscitation are resort-lunge of a person who enters the ed to, viz., artificial respiration, or water alive. This is contradictory the use of the pulmotor, of the time-honored belief that the Doctor Fischer claims that he has lungs of a drowned person are filled, never failed in this method of resuscitation which has been applied. "The water strikes the larynx and in dozens of cases. By this process causes a spasm which closes the it is possible to save the lives of persons and prevents the entrance of water for a period of nine days, attempts have been made to restore all relaxation commences. Drowning, then by the use of artificial respiration, so called, is merely suspended animation, so that, if necessary, the old method of resuscitation may first be.

"To restore animation, I proceed adopted, followed by immersion in first to thoroughly warm the body, hot water and artificial respiration, which has been chilled by submergence and the use of the pulmotor."

Were We All Black Once?

Were we all black once?

According to scientists, there is no doubt about it.

All white men, they declare, are descended from black ancestors, the skin of mankind being originally black.

The explanation is to be found in the fact that there are certain glands in our bodies which have regulated our growth and shape. According to Professor Keith, the great authority on the history of man, all men are descended from a common stock. White men, black men, red men, brown men, and yellow men arise from the one tree of life, and we have divided into three groups, white, Negro and Mongolian.

Agnes ago the glands began slowly to change their method of working, and so gradually to evolve three distinct races of mankind. Each type became slowly fixed, and there came into existence the three types, white, Negro and Mongolian. Injury to a gland brings about in us effects which we find in other races.

For instance, gland failure may make us as dark as a Negro or as sallow as a Chinaman. It may make us a dwarf or a giant. In a word, these glands, of which there are enough in the human system to fill a watch pocket, regulate our growth and shape, and, if they become diseased, may cause a reversion to the primitive type.

A UNIQUE FLAG.

A United States flag has been made in Amestown, N. Y., which is unique in that it was made of wool, sorted by a Yankee, scoured by an Albanian, carded by an Italian, spun by a Swede, warped by a German, dressed by an Englishman, drawn by a Scotchman, woven by a Belgian, supervised by a Frenchman, inspected by a Yankee, dyed by a Turk, examined by an Irishman and dressed finally by a Pole.

CANADA A GREAT FOREST COUNTRY.

Canada has much land too rocky or too sandy to grow farm crops but just suited to the growing of forest trees. If this land is kept in forest it will help our farmers, manufacturers, merchants, carriers and workmen. But if the forest is destroyed the land will become a barren desert, streams will dry up, and business and industry will be injured. The chief foe of our forests is fire. Most fires are caused by carelessness. Therefore, let all who go into the forest be careful with fire.

The "Closed Door" Policy

By Agnes C. Laut.

"If the safety of the Empire may some day depend on oil fuels for navy, aeroplane and submarines, ought we not to think twice before we deed away our Canadian oil lands to any foreign investors?"

"If the United States refused to accept the mandatory for Mesopotamia, why should the Allies given Uncle Sam rights in developing the oil lands there?"

Sounds good in theory, but won't stand the test of facts from our side.

Take the facts!

Suppose we accept "the closed door policy" for the development of oil lands. Who will be hurt? Where is the most oil produced?

"A closed door policy" subscribed to by the Allies and agreed to by the United States, would permit Mexico to bar all foreigners from Mexico, which the Socialists are eager to do. That would cut off 100 million barrels a year from the world.

The United States produces over 400 million barrels a year, of which they send abroad all the foreign market demands and can pay for. Price alone rules where the oil goes. Highest bidder first served. But the United States uses 100,000,000 more barrels than they produce. Adopt a "closed door policy" and the oil now going to the Allied requirements, will be kept at home for only the motor demands for the United States requires oil for nine million cars a year, not counting tractors, gas engines, locomotives, aeroplanes, ships.

Who will be hurt?

Canada does not produce more than 5 to 10 per cent of the oil and gasoline she needs. What would a "closed door policy" do to Canada?

Enormous discoveries of oil have been made in Colombia, Venezuela, Guatemala. If a "closed door" were adopted for Mesopotamia, a "closed door" in these countries with the Monroe doctrine in force, could junk the navies of the Empire.

And outside North and South America, what is the production abroad? Look up the United States Consular reports on oil. Not a fourth the requirements of the Allied Navies.

Who will be hurt by a "closed door" policy? Financial Post.

Evidence given at Ottawa regarding exchange frauds perpetrated on the government goes to show that the men in charge of the work were asleep on the job. Perhaps a new broom would sweep cleaner.

STORY OF JAME CHALMERS. Part I.

James Chalmers was born in a little town in the west of Scotland where his father was a stone mason. Their house was close by the sea, and that James found he must either try his hand at boat building, but he found it so difficult that he and his friends decided to tar a herring-box instead. James got in, and the other boys towed him by a rope. The rope broke, and the herring-box drifted away from shore. One James was rescued by some fishermen. They expected to find the boy frightened after such a narrow escape, as he was not seven years old at the time, but such an idea never seemed to enter his head. When he was seven, the family moved to a country place inland, where James and his sisters had three miles to walk to school across the moors. Some of the children at the school lived in the town, while others lived in farm houses scattered over the moorland. James was soon leading the moorland children in battle against those from the town, and many a hot fight was waged on the countryside. A wild mountain stream called the Aray had to be crossed by bridges, and one day when the water rushed in torrents under the bridge after a heavy storm of rain, a boy called Johnnie Minto fell into the stream. James Chalmers heard the cry, and rushed to the bridge further down he caught his arm around one of the posts and leaped far out into the water to grasp Johnnie as he was washed past. The attempt was successful, but so strong was the force of the stream that James found he must either let go the post or the boy. He decided instantly to let go the bridge and the two boys, clinging together, were carried down the stream. James and the other boys towed him by a rope. The rope broke, and the herring-box drifted away from shore. One James was rescued by some fishermen. They expected to find the boy frightened after such a narrow escape, as he was not seven years old at the time, but such an idea never seemed to enter his head. When he was seven, the family moved to a country place inland, where James and his sisters had three miles to walk to school across the moors. Some of the children at the school lived in the town, while others lived in farm houses scattered over the moorland. James was soon leading the moorland children in battle against those from the town, and many a hot fight was waged on the countryside. A wild mountain stream called the Aray had to be crossed by bridges, and one day when the water rushed in torrents under the bridge after a heavy storm of rain, a boy called Johnnie Minto fell into the stream. and he made up his mind he would follow next Sunday do something to help those heathen. Mrs. S. P. Drinkwater and her little people on the distant island that had the daughter, Doris, who have spent interested him when he was a boy several months with her parents, Mr. To Chalmers went to college. He and Mrs. Ld. Wakelin, returned to had to learn how to teach and Medicine Hat on Saturday. The Review is offering prizes for the best "write up" of the Agricultural Fair to be held on Sept. 14. Any boy or girl sixteen years or under, in the following districts is eligible to compete: North Salt Spring, South Salt Spring, Cranberry Marsh, and still loved boating and swimming and fun of all kinds. One night he dressed himself in a great bear-skin and came into the room where his fellow students were at supper. The lights went out, and they were all frightened out of their wits, but Chalmers' laughing face peeped out from under the great bear's head, all the young men joined in the joke.

KAX'S HUNTING.

His spots are the jacks of the leap and, his horns are the buffalo's pride. Be clean for the strength of the hunter is known by the gloss of his hide. If you find that the bullock can toss you, or the heavy-browed lumber can go. You need not stop work to inform us, we know it ten seasons before. Oppress not the cub of the stranger, but hail them as sister and brother. For though they are little and fussy it maybe the bear is their mother. "There is none like to me!" says the Cub in the pride of his earliest kill; But the Jungle is large and the Cub is small. Let him think and be still.

WILL HOLD REGATTA ON SEPTEMBER 5

(Continued from page one) held the position of assistant post master and was universally liked and respected by all those with whom he came in contact. His brother, Bertram Stanford, arrived from Bristol about two weeks before he died. He leaves to mourn his loss a mother, father and five brothers.

The funeral service was held at St. Paul's Church, Ganges, last Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. The service was conducted by Rev. Geo. Aitkens, assisted by Mr. C. W. Abbott. The pall-bearers were Messrs. G. C. Mouat, L. Chaplin, P. E. Louther, C. Springford, G. S. M. Beddis and F. L. Crofton. The funeral was one of the largest ever seen on Salt Spring Island and the wealth of beautiful wreaths and flowers mutually testified to the esteem in which Ernest Stanford was held.

The coffin was covered with a large Union Jack which could scarcely be seen for the many wreaths and beautiful floral offerings. There was a very large attendance at the graveside. He was buried at the church of England cemetery at "Central."

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the members of the bereaved family in their sad loss. The following is a list of those who sent floral tributes:

Stanford family, Miss Beddis, Gulf Islands, Hospital, staff of Mouat Bros., Comrades of G. W. V. A., Miss M. Scott, Ganges Social Club, Myrtle and George Rice, Guild of Sunshine, Gladys Horradale, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Baker, Miss M. Baxter, Major and Mrs. Chive Justice, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mouat, Mr. J. H. Kingston, Mr. W. N. Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Bertradale, Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Watson Taylor, Mrs. Fred Bittencourt, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. James, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott, Bernt and Geoffrey, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Mouat, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Mouat, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Crofton, Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stuart Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Beddis, Salt Spring Island Trading Co., Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. Jane Mouat, Mrs. W. Harvey, Mrs. Jeanne Aumat, Charlie and Geoff. Beddis.

Mr. Bernard Stanford, on behalf of parents and brothers, in England, wishes to thank all the friends of his late brother, Mr. Ernest Stanford, of Ganges, for their kindness to him during his illness, on his bed and in his coffin, and for the floral offerings.

The teacher for the part of the Island for the coming term will be: Ernest A. Chalmers, North Salt Spring, Adams, Vancouver School, Central, Mr. F. C. Crofton, school, Ganges, Mr. J. H. Kingston, school, Ganges, Mr. J. H. Kingston, school, Ganges, Mr. J. H. Kingston, school, Ganges.

THE AUDITORIUM

Two high-class shows were given at the Auditorium during the past week. The first, on Friday and Saturday, "An Adventure in Hearts," featuring Robert Warwick, was a treat not to be missed, while the only people who failed to laugh at Mr. and Mrs. Carter de Daven in their comedy "Spring," were those who didn't see it.

The feature on Monday and Tuesday, "A Divorce of Convenience," as just one long laugh. Owen Moore the popular film star, kept the smiles spread for five long reels. The "Prizma" pictures, "Under the Sky" were also of a very fine calibre, and enjoyed by those patrons who braved the wet weather to see them.

Tomorrow Night and Saturday Constance Binney, who was seen here on the opening nights in "39 East," will again be shown here tomorrow and Saturday in "Erstwhile Susan." Too much praise cannot be given to the acting of this debutante star of screen and stage, who has delighted huge audiences throughout the country. In addition to this splendid feature there will be two short comedies. Fatty Arbuckle in "Fatty's Joy Ride" for a start, and

Antarctic and Mount Everest

The pioneering spirit which gave us our Empire is as strong today as when all the great oceans were unexplored. To a certain type of Briton there is provocation in the fact that nature should deny him access to any portion of the earth's surface, whether it be the Antarctic or Mount Everest. Indeed Sir Ernest Shackleton has confessed that this is the real incentive to risk life and endure hardships time after time in the frozen wastes. It is the desire and the determination to conquer the unknown. Not that even polar expeditions serve no other purpose than the ends of science. According to figures quoted by Sir Ernest they can be justified on business grounds. The total expenditure on polar expeditions during the last hundred years has been £2,000,000, whereas the results they have yielded in the shape of harbors, whale oil, and scientific knowledge have been valued at £25,000,000. But the forthcoming Shackleton voyage is to have other objectives than the Antarctic. It will cover thirty thousand miles, and will include a survey of hitherto unexplored islands in mid-ocean, before the main purpose of the expedition—the penetration of the Antarctic continent from some point in the region probably between Coats Land and Enderby Land—is attempted. The hearty good wishes of the Empire will follow the progress of the Quest, the indomitable commander, and his picked crew, which, we are glad to heart, will include a lucky Boy Scout. In a similar spirit of adventure is being undertaken the conquest of Mount Everest, but the test of endurance is of another kind. Here success will largely depend upon the capacity of human beings to survive at such an altitude. The physical hardships of such an ascent cannot be exaggerated, but when full allowance is made for these obstacles, the chief enemy to be overcome will be atmospheric. Will it be left to aviation to carry these last strongholds of unconquered nature.—British Empire.

BURNS JUST LIKE SNOW BALLS

Sidney Mills Working Overtime on Big Order of Tsuga Heterophylla for Japan.

The Sidney Mills has been taxed to its utmost capacity during the past week, being compelled to run overtime on a big shipment of tsuga heterophylla, which is going to be used in the construction of fire proof buildings in Japan.

Experimenters with this lumber have proved it to be 99.999 fire resisting after being put through a secret process, being submerged in d'leu sel au mer Pacific for twelve months, after which it is sprayed with kerosene, which renders it almost fireproof. The sawdust from this lumber is being shipped across the Pacific, over a specially constructed conveyor and subjected to the intense heat from the newly installed burner, which brings it to the proper consistency for mixing with concrete in the buildings in Japan. The contractors on the new road wanted to get some of this tsuga heterophylla sawdust to mix in with the concrete, but owing to the supply being limited the output had to be shipped to Japan.

Some historians claim that the mortar used in the Pyramids of Egypt was mixed with tsuga heterophylla sawdust, this accounting for their long endurance.

There are a few samples of this tree tsuga heterophylla left in the mill pond set and Superintendent McMorison would be pleased to show them to any visitors, only he is rushed at present away by a big boom of pond-dredging and piling.

FORESTRY CONVENTION.

Under the auspices of the Canadian Forestry Association, a Forestry Convention will be held at Vancouver, on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 19 and 20, continuing at Victoria, Wednesday, Sept. 21.

The members of the Forestry Association in this district are cordially invited to join with their fellow members in making this convention a mighty success.

While the topics and speakers have been selected with a view to making the meetings practically helpful, the addresses and discussions should be keenly interesting to those not identified directly with the lumber or other wood-using industries or the profession of forestry.

SAM HILL SAYS

Many men who are far from good looking are mighty good at looking, as any flapper can tell you.

It takes more than a cake of yeast to raise the dough you need to get by in this world.

You can get the old-time drinkers to take a chance on wood alcohol, but you never can get them to take a chance on water.

There is one thing about nature's laws. The bootleggers do not have much success in getting around them.

Every man has his price, and the price some men demand shows they are the worst kind of profiteers.

You never can tell. The man whom you thought was your worst enemy may really have been your best friend when he married the girl you had set your heart on. It all depends on the kind of a wife she made.

Why do people have their photographs taken? They wish them off on their friends, who stick 'em on the mantelpiece for a few days, then kick them around the house for a few years before they get nerve enough to burn them up.

If the wisest man on earth disagrees with you, you know he is only a fool after all, but if some half-baked boob accepts your opinions you immediately put him down as an intellectual giant.
